NASDA congratulates Donald Trump on being inaugurated as President of the United States, emphasizes importance of federal and state government collaboration

ARLINGTON, VA— The National Association of State Departments of Agriculture congratulates Donald Trump on his inauguration as President of the United States. NASDA looks forward to working with his administration to champion solutions for food and agricultural production.

“State departments of agriculture are steady leaders in helping communities solve some of rural and urban America’s most complex challenges of making certain all Americans have access to an abundant and nutritious food supply. As co-regulators with the federal government on environmental, agricultural and food safety policies, NASDA will work with the Trump Administration to ensure agriculture leads the way toward a healthy and resilient world.” - NASDA CEO Ted McKinney.
